General marking instructions

This information is provided to help you understand the general principles you must apply when marking candidate responses to this assignment. These principles must be read in conjunction with the detailed marking instructions, which identify the key features required in candidate responses.

- a Always use positive marking. This means candidates accumulate marks for the demonstration of relevant skills, knowledge and understanding; marks are not deducted for errors or omissions.
- b If a candidate response does not seem to be covered by either the principles or detailed marking instructions, and you are uncertain how to assess it, you must seek guidance from your team leader.
- c Candidates gain marks for specific skills, knowledge and understanding. Award marks for using different functions and features of a variety of IT applications in the following areas:

Spreadsheet – 20 marks (+/- 4 marks)

- using a range of simple, complex and advanced formulae to perform calculations and summarise information
- using a range of simple, complex and advanced functions to manipulate and analyse information

Database – 20 marks (+/- 4 marks)

- searching and sorting information using a range of criteria
- presenting information

Word processing – 20 marks (+/- 4 marks)

- layout and presentation of information
- integration of information from other IT applications

Communication – 10 marks (+/- 2 marks)

- presenting/disseminating information to different audiences

Layouts

Marks will be awarded for a wide variety of layouts used in word processing and desktop publishing tasks. Candidates will not be penalised for applying a layout to a document that is different to one that has been supplied in the detailed Marking Instructions. The overriding principle is that a document must be 'fit-for-purpose'.

Formulae

It is possible for candidates to use a variety of different formulae to resolve the problem and provide the information needed in the spreadsheet. Marks will be awarded where a formulae has been used that provides the correct answer, the formulae provided in the Marking Instructions is not the only correct answer.

Printouts

Candidates are clearly directed, within the instructions, as to the printing requirements. Where a printout for a task is missing, marks will be awarded on any available alternative printout.

Keying-in

Marks will be awarded for every block of text that is accurately keyed in. This will be for approximately every 25 words. Flags may be included where appropriate to identify where marks are awarded.

Marking codes

Marking codes may be provided in the marking instructions for markers to use to identify what they are awarding marks for, for example F - formula, L - layout, to help with the quality assurance of marking.

THE STORY

It's the late 1920s and life in a Glasgow orphanage is tough for a young teenager called Billy McGraw. He has been dispatched to the local butchers to buy a treat for a heartless orphanage manager known as Miss Flannigan. Unfortunately, before Billy returns "home" with his precious cargo he somehow manages to lose it or has it been stolen from him? Billy knows that his life will be a misery if he doesn't return with the merchandise and embarks on a search for "the bridie" which ultimately takes his life in a whole new direction
